The little fighter that
NO ONE WANTED!

COWLING

HORIZONTAL TAIL

The 28 is unique in aviation history having received considerable fame for being a glorious fighting machine when in truth, it was rejected as a frontline fighter by the French.

Because of it's availability it was rushed into production even with out customers and was supplied to the American Expeditionary Air Force early in 1918 being the first to carry the U.S. colors
